

Babu John Chowdhary

(1876-1951)

Babu John Chowdhary, founder of the Mission to the Aristocracy of India, the son of Gopinath Chowdhary and Amala Ratnammal Chowdhary, was born on the 20th of April 1876 in Akulatampara, a hamlet near Parlakimidi. His parents accepted the Lord at Cuttack three years before his birth under the ministry of Rev Purushottam Chowdhary, his grand uncle.

He had his education in Parlakimidi and Samalkot. He was in touch with the palaces of India and longed to reach them the gospel message. He served as Head master in Bobbili and as Sub editor of Ravi, a C.B.M Mission weekly.

Mrs. John Chowdhary was blessed with four daughters and a son and had her home call in 1911. As a result of her request, Mr. John Chowdhary was encouraged to start the M.A.I. in 1913 and reached the gospel message to many palaces in India. Many Hindu homes had on the whole, some influence of the gospel message and several accepted the Lord.

His humble and selfless life is exemplary. As a born historian, he worked hard and produced many lives of saints of which the life of Rev. Purushottam Chowdhary, Poet and Pastor, Hsi. was helpful to many. He boldly approached the Indian Rajahs and preached the gospel to the rich and the poor alike.

He leaves behind four daughters and a son and eleven grand children. After he was operated for cataract, in his eye in the Mission hospital at Sompeta he could witness for a while but had sudden attack of blood pressure and rested in the Lord in his eldest daughter's home in Kanchili on 18-10-1951.

"What a friend we have in Jesus," All hail the power of Jesus" were his favorite hymns. His children and friends carry on the work of the M.A.I. "And they glorified God in me."
